

A HURRIED EXTRADITION.

FURTHER NEWS IN THE CASE OF THE NEW ORLEANS FRUIT SELLER.

A Postscript at the Criminal Court—The Prisoner Brought to See His Wife and Child—What is Said of the Case by Lawyers and others—Vastual Davis.

Few additional particulars could be ascertained yesterday concerning the habeas obtained by the defense in behalf of the fruit seller of New Orleans, who is represented by the Italian Government through its representative here, to be his son, Vincenzo L. Sclavi, who escaped to America, via Palermo, in 1873.

Judge Gilpin, who succeeded ex-Judge Chouteau, one of his law partners, on the senior court, for the prisoner, was unable to give any explanation of the strange proceeding. He thought that if there was any reason for the seeming indecision and the seal shown in getting the prisoner out of the country, it should be easily made known. He said that he had expected a hearing by the State Department before the mandate of extradition was issued. It was his intention to have had the department review the proceedings before the United States Commissioner, Mr. Osborn, and the conclusions as to the identity of the prisoner will be left to him.

He did not care to say what could be done for the prisoner, nor that he is outside the jurisdiction of the United States.

Dr. Lorenz Ulio, who had the active direction of the prisoner's defense, was not in the city. He was assigned by Commissioner Osborn as counsel to the prisoner at the time the latter was arraigned to plead on the day of his arrival here in irons from New Orleans. At the office of Dr. Ulio his partner, Mr. Remond, said that he started for Baltimore on Tuesday night, and that he was to go to New York to the State Department to review the proceedings before the United States Commissioner, Mr. Osborn, and the conclusions as to the identity of the prisoner will be left to him.

Commissioner Osborn said that he was not aware that the prisoner had been returned to the United States yesterday, but that he was confident it would be done to him by a proper officer.

The news was a surprise to him. He supposed that there was to be a hearing before the State Department before the mandate of extradition was forwarded by the papers to him by the State Department delayed until Monday last. Mr. Conder, the counsel for the Italian Government, told him that he had no objection to the departure of the prisoner without delay, and he complied with the request by sending them on Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock. He knew of no reason for the hurry.

Mr. John N. Lewis, one of the firm of Conder Brothers, said that they were known by the firm of Coudert Brothers, and believed that the prisoner was confined in their office on Tuesday morning.

The male chorus concert of the "Three Friends" was given at the "Circus House," and the witness said that a series of coats and blouse buttons have lost their attraction, and that the girls turn their backs on them for the sake of the attractions of the men.

Jane, one of the girls, expresses the situation on the question of uniform in her words: "I am not fond of uniform." The witness said that Blanche Douglass was at the hotel one week from July 30 to Aug. 6, and at the hotel next week from Aug. 6 to Aug. 13.

The engagement book produced contained an entry against Blanche Douglass on Wednesday, Aug. 1, reading: "Went to see the Marshals and told them that he should not require the prisoner at 1 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, so I took no further action in the matter." We were told that the Marshals accompanied the Marshals' deputies to Ludlow street, and saw the prisoner transferred on board of steamship "T. Caland."

The prisoner was presented to the Marshals as follows:

DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

Two days ago the present Secretary of State, Mr. W. H. Seward, received a cablegram from His Excellency the King of Italy, acceding to the demand of His Majesty, that the fugitive be surrendered to the United States of America and Italy, for the mutual delivery of criminals and fugitives in case of need.

The King of Italy has charged the Italian Embassy with the crime of murder and attempted to extradite the fugitive, and has presented to the Marshals as follows:

HON. FREDERICK M. DAVIS,

Secretary of State.

The mandate is in the form required by the law, and contains a statement that the extradition was exceptionally quiet, and that no reason could be assigned for the haste.

The witness said that the prisoner had been committed to the custody of the Marshals, and that he had been taken before the court, and that he had been examined by the court, and that he had been remanded to the custody of the Marshals.
